(All commission districts)

SUMMARY

State CAC chapters receive additional funding from the Western Regional Children's Advocacy Center Grants for their activities in support of Child Advocacy Centers within their state. The District Attorney's Office – home to the Washoe County Child Advocacy Center – is acting as the fiscal arm of the Nevada chapter (Children's Advocacy Centers of Nevada). As such, the Washoe Board of County Commissioners must accept the grant awards and must approve amendments to the adopted fiscal year budget and direct the Comptroller's Office to make the necessary budget amendments.

This grant approval request is retroactive due to documentation delays and staff shortages.

BACKGROUND

The State of Nevada contains four children's advocacy centers that have been committed to the formation of a Nevada State Chapter, the Children's Advocacy Centers of Nevada. Children's Advocacy Centers of Nevada, the Nevada Chapter, was accredited with the National Children's Alliance in October 2017. Of the four centers, two (Washoe County Children's Advocacy Center and Southern Nevada Children's Advocacy Center) are accredited centers and two (Nye County Children's Advocacy Center and Great Basin Children's Advocacy Center) are associate members moving toward accreditation. The Washoe County District Attorney's Office serves as the fiscal for the Children's Advocacy Centers of Nevada (CACNV), the State of Nevada Chapter.

The Washoe County Child Advocacy Center benefits from the CACNV goals:

1. Establish and maintain CAC accreditation throughout the state.
2. Support and enhance existing CAC programs.
3. Assist CAC establish and improve their Multi-Disciplinary Teams.
4. Provide outreach, education, and support throughout Nevada.
5. Maintain and grow funding for CACs in Nevada.

The State chapter receives funding from the Western Regional Children's Advocacy Center (also known as the Rady's Children's Hospital in San Diego).

This grant approval request is retroactive due to documentation delays and meeting availability.
