Application for Animal Services Advisory Board

Additional Information:

In recent years, I have focused my attention on my education, career and small donations wherever possible. I am looking to shift my attention slightly and give back as much as I can, while still maintaining my career path. I have experience with volunteer work, most recently with the Nevada Museum of Art, and in High School with a philanthropy group called Youth 2 Give. I am very interested and eager to give back to the community. Although I have not focused on volunteering or giving as much as I would have liked, I am in a position where I not only can volunteer my time and expertise, but feel a draw to do just that. It is a draw that was instilled in me from an early age. I grew up in a family where business/finance went hand-in-hand with philanthropy/volunteering. I am early in my career, but I have achieved Masters in Finance, and am learning new things every single day with each of our clients. My background in mathematics and philosophy help me every single day in not only be able to do the work, but having the ability to think critically about a problem and finding a balance between multiple solutions (or no good solutions). I personally think these skills would be a great boon to the Advisory Board. From a more personal perspective, I am deeply passionate about helping animals, whether it be by protecting them from abuse, making sure they find appropriate homes or be placed back in the wild, or preventing population explosion so that fewer have the ability to '\fall through the cracks\'. My financial experience, coupled with a respect and love of animals would make me a great candidate for the Animal Services Advisory Board. While I understand that my youth comes some inexperience, I believe it also makes me more passionate and eager to learn.

Youth Philanthropy group sponsored by member family members. We met at least once a month and organized various events. We had a small pool of money that we, as a group, would decide how best to benefit the community. Whether we donated the money, adopted families during the holidays, cleaned trash on the side of the road, purchased toys for children in the hospital etc.
